PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The new STIHL USA Headquarters is a three-story office building with integrated museum exhibit area, auditorium, office and industrial tech service lab and shop area. Building features high STC acoustically-rated exterior envelope as well as an acoustic interior separation of uses with varying acoustic requirements. Building is sited over the footprint of the previous headquarters building in order to preserve maximum number of mature trees on site. The main building lobby incorporates the STIHL museum, featuring a two-story DNA helix structure displaying a progression in chainsaw design over the history of the company. Museum also includes a number of interactive exhibit displays.

Project includes new Guardhouse at the main site entrance and exterior covered technical demonstration area intended for product presentation to visiting dealers and service technicians.
